

Bridges @ Inforum 2017 is a 2½-day education event where thought leaders, GT Nexus customers, employees, and partners come together to learn, exchange information and ideas, and discover how to excel in an increasingly connected business world. This is a premiere supply chain industry event that is important to our team, and I would like to attend.

It's never too early to start planning. I'd like to get your approval to attend Bridges @ Inforum 2017, which is scheduled for July 10–12 in New York. There's no other conference where I'll have the opportunity to test-drive innovative new technologies, hear first-hand about GT Nexus' strategy, and get the information I need to maximize the value of our investment with GT Nexus. I'll have access to experts from around the world—customers, partners, and GT Nexus staff—to help me grow my skills and increase our productivity.

Bridges is the industry's leading event for supply chain technology. It brings together top supply chain executives from the world's largest companies. This year, Bridges is at Inforum 2017, allowing attendees to explore the vast world of Infor while also maintaining the strength of the existing Bridges community. I will have the opportunity to attend educational sessions, learn supply chain best practices and network with the who's who of global supply chain.

Here's what a few of last year's attendees said about their experience:

- “GT Nexus seems to be at the heart of a lot of companies' decision making these days. You get to meet familiar faces and people that share a love of the logistics industry.”
- “It's so well organized, and we get so much out of the information.”
- “By far, the best event I attend on an annual basis—and I go to a lot. The content is very, very good.”
- “This event makes you think outside the box, and it also makes you think, ‘So I'm not the only one that have this problem.’ Part of the solution, 95% of the time, is GT Nexus.”

This is the approximate cost of my attending Bridges @ Inforum 2017:
